

FRENCH

SFU.CA/FRENCH

Bachelor of Arts
Major
Minor
Honours
Certificates

LANGUAGE
LITERATURE
CULTURE & FILM
LINGUISTICS
FRANCOPHONIE
DECOLONIZATION
GLOBALIZATION
INTERDISCIPLINARY

FRENCH

CONTACT

Hélène Pouliot
Undergraduate Advisor
frenadv@sfu.ca

Is French for you?

Whether you are pursuing a degree in French or taking just a few courses in language, linguistics, literature or culture, studying in SFU's Department of French offers you a range of possibilities. Innovative teaching techniques such as interactive language classes, online courses, and mass and social media can bring your French to a polished and professional level.

You can choose a variety of programs which will help shape your career:

- Major, Honours or Major with Concentration for Teachers
- Extended Minor
- Language Minor (for beginners)
- French Language Proficiency Certificate
- French and Education Certificate
- Post-Baccalaureate Diploma in French and Education
- Joint Major with another department

Our French Department is the only one in Western Canada to offer a combination of French/French Canadian literatures and French linguistics, with beginner and advanced language classes, composition, and conversation courses.

Where will you go from here?

French alumni are working throughout the world; some of their fields of activity include:

- Communication environments, written and IT multi-media
- Consulting firms
- International trade specialist or diplomat
- Small business
- Government policy analyst or researcher, Public Service of Canada
- Law enforcement and legal counsel
- Multinational organizations
- Immersion/FSL teacher
- Public administrator
- Foreign service worker, immigration officer
- International development agencies and organizations
- Education and academia

Want to know more?

The French department offers you:

- A dynamic learning environment with innovative teaching and research in language, linguistics, literature, and culture
- An academic advisor available in person or online
- A language laboratory equipped with cutting-edge technologies
- Language and writing support
- Teaching assistant programs in Quebec and France
- The opportunity to participate in immersion programs and access student jobs, volunteer opportunities, and co-op placements

All courses are taught in French.

LEARN MORE AT
SFU.CA/FRENCH